DEPUTY CLERK

ORDER OF REMAND

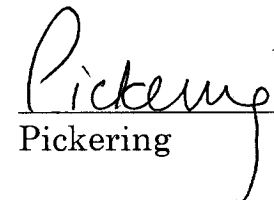

The parties to this appeal and cross-appeal have filed a stipulation, indicating a settlement, with all parties to bear their own costs and attorney fees. They further request that this matter be remanded to the district court for entry of a stipulated order effectuating the settlement. Finally, they ask that this disposition be without prejudice to the parties' right to seek reinstatement should the district court fail to grant the stipulated relief. We approve the stipulation, and we

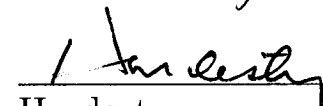

ORDER this matter REMANDED to the district court for proceedings consistent with this order.¹
